OCEAN STEAMER AGROUND

Twenty Italian Immigrants Attempting [illegible] cape, Are Drowned

WASHINGTON, May 7.—A dispatch from D P McKee, Washington agent of the [illegible] ated Press, announces that the Sta[illegible] steamer La Champagne, which sailed from Havre for New York to-day, had been in a co[illegible]. [illegible] cabin passengers are safe. The dispatch is dated Havre. McKee was a passenger.

LONDON, May 7.—The Trans-Atlantic line steamer La Champagne, which sailed from Havre for New York at 9 o'clock this morning, while returning after having been in collision, ran aground near Avranchas. It is reported that twenty Italian immigrants, who attempted, regardless of discipline, to escape in the life boats, were drowned. The remainder of the passengers were safely landed. The steamer can be floated easily.

ENGLAND.

THE MAHARAJAH'S JEWELS.

LONDON, May 7.—Advices from Ajaccio state that divers have succeeded in reaching the wreck of the steamer Tasmania, of the Peninsular and Oriental steamship navigation lines, which was stranded and wrecked on the Mon[illegible] rocks, south of Corsica, on April 18, while en route to Marseilles from Bombay, and are busily engaged in recovering the cargo. The maharajah of Jajpoor was a passenger on the Tasmania as far as Suez. There he disembarked, but he left six boxes of jewelry aboard in the captain's room and custody, the maharajah intending to get them when he reached Marseilles. The captain went down with his ship, along with two officers and twenty two stokers, who remained with him helping to save the passengers, 160 in number, all of whom were landed. The jewels were deemed by the owner worth $200,000, and this amount the maharajah of Jajpoor demanded of the company.

THE "TIMES" IS SATISFIED.

LONDON, May 7.—The Times, commenting on the action of the house of commons in regard to the Dillon-Times affair, says "The real interesting thing in the debate was the little comedy played, we presume, under the direction of Mr Gladstone, with a precision seeming to show that it was not wholly unrehearsed, offering to enlarge the scope of parliamentary inquiry at the last moment, when it was known that an amendment for an inquiry would be rejected. We cannot imagine who the opposition think they can deceive by so palpable a trick. For our own part we have every reason to be satisfied with the result of the debate."

SALISBURY IS A UNIONIST.

LONDON, May 8.—The electors of St. George's, Hanover Square, gave a banquet this evening in honor of Mr Goschen, who represents that district in parliament. In his speech Lord Salisbury said the government was deriving support from all sides. He was a unionist, not a conservative minister. The best men of the liberal and conservative parties now saw nothing before them but great subjects of imperial interest upon which they closely agree.

EXPORTS DECREASE, IMPORTS INCREASE.

LONDON, May 7.—Returns issued by the board of trade show that imports during the month of April increased £5 083,171 as compared with those of the corresponding month last year and that exports decreased £6142 as compared with those of April, 1886.

THE JUBILEE RACES.

LONDON, May 7.—The second day of the Kempton park jubilee meeting race, for the jubilee stakes, 3000 guineas, was won by Bendigo, Hartley second, Tyrone third. There were eighteen starters.

NOTED PUBLISHERS FAIL.

LONDON, May 7.—Tinsley Brothers, publishers, have failed.

SPAIN.

THE BELLE OF MADRID TO MARRY

MADRID, May 7.—The daughter of the Marquis of Sotomayor, who is to wed Senor [illegible]as del Castillo, is a wealthy heiress, and has for the past eighteen years been the belle of the Madrid salons. She is 37 years of age. The queen of Spain will bestow upon her the title of duchess on the occasion of her marriage.

TRIAL BY JURY.

MADRID, May 7.—The chamber of deputies, [illegible]9 to 50, has adopted the bill establishing trial by jury.

CANADA.

DID NOT CANCEL EDISON'S PATENTS

OTTAWA, Ont May 7.—The famous suit of Wright vs. the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, for the cancellation of Edison patents owned by the latter, which would give the petitioner power to manufacture the commercial instrument in Canada, was dismissed this morning with judgment to the effect that the importation of the commercial instrument was not an importation of any of the Edison inventions.

MEXICO.

THEY APPEAL TO DIAZ.

NOGALES, A. T., May 7.—The condemned Mexican military prisoners who created a disturbance on the American side at this place, and who were sentenced to death by military courtmartial, have appealed to the higher military court of justice at the City of Mexico, which is composed of the president and secretary of war. The prisoners made application just in time to prevent their execution.

AUSTRO-HUNGARY.

A PERTINENT QUESTION.

PESTH, May 7.—Unterhaus, deputy for Iranyi, gave notice that he would question the government as to the truth of the statement of the North German Gazette, of Berlin, that a convention was concluded between Austria and Russia in 1877, dealing with the occupation of Bosnia.

FRANCE.

NO DEFENSIVE ALLIANCE FORMED

PARIS, May 7.—The Siecle denies the statement made in the La Paris that a defensive alliance has been concluded between France and other powers. An official denial is also imminent.

ROUMANIA.

ALL QUIET IN JASSY

BUCHAREST, May 7.—It is denied that disorders have occurred in Jassy.

WORKING PEOPLE

Are often in that most wretched state of being really too sick to work, but so situated that they cannot afford to lose the time it requires to take medicine and get well. Loss of time means loss of money. Medicine is needed to invigorate, regulate and tone the system. But many medicines make half sick people who try sick and time and money are lost in getting well after taking them.

The Liver is the cause of nearly all bodily ailments such as

Dyspepsia, Constipation, Headache, Sour Stomach, Biliousness, Colic, Low Spirits, Kidney Affections

And a medicine like Simmons Liver Regulator that will remove all these disorders without causing loss of time and strength [illegible] even while the person is at work, is certainly a boon to working people.

Rev. R. G. WILDER, Princeton, N J, says: "I find nothing helps so much to keep me in working condition as Simmons Liver Regulator."

Choking Catarrh.

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat and pressing the life breath from your tightened chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pain and strange noises! How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucus all can testify who are afflicted with Catarrh. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress toward the lungs, liver and kidneys all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers when all other remedies fail of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each packet contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise and directions, and is sold by all druggists for $1.

AMUSEMENT FOR OREGONIANS

The Strange Case of a Girl who Married a Dying Man to Become a Widow—The Husband Refuses to Die

HELD IN DURESS.

A Long Story that will Amuse Many Old Oregonians

SAN FRANCISCO May 8.—Unusual efforts are being made here to secure the release of D. R. Lavin, a liquor dealer of Portland, who in August last was brought down and committed to the government prison on Alcatraz island for four years on a charge of desertion. A local paper of yesterday devotes over a column of space to this case and Lavin's life previous to marrying. It recites how Lavin deserted from Fort Canby [illegible] over eight years ago, how he married the present Mrs Lavin, who was then a widow, and how he established himself in the liquor business near the corner of Morrison and Second streets in Portland. As the story goes Lavin was by nature a politician, and his store and saloon were the rendezvous of [illegible] democrats. His wife had made it delightful in making all herself equally as good democrats as himself, and this fact was not lost sight of by political enemies. Either Lavin inflated by good fortune or secure in the hope that his pardon would be obtained had lost his habitual caution and had spoken aloud of his army experiences, and the fact of his desertion was known to several who were unfriendly to him. Also on election day in June last he was arrested by the military authorities for desertion and thrown into jail at Vancouver. After a court martial a sentence of four years imprisonment was passed upon him.

THE AFFLICTED WIFE

Mrs Lavin was naturally prostrated over the news of this untoward arrest and wrung her hands and wept bitterly over her misfortunes. Immediately following his imprisonment she was permitted by the military authorities to call upon her husband and had some conversation with him. She appealed to various military commanders for a remittal of his sentence, but each demand was met with contempt. Finally her eyes and ears were gladdened by news of the release of Zimmerman, whose case was somewhat parallel and was championed by Ward McAllister of this city, and she retained him for the defense of her husband. No sooner did news of this reach the authorities than they peremptorily forbid her to visit the island. She threw herself upon the mercy of Gen Howard, but that distinguished officer coldly informed her that Lavin was a disgrace and that she should not disgrace herself by seeing a man who had so unworthily fled the service of his country, and that under no consideration would he grant her a permit to see her husband. One day however Mrs Lavin slipped on board a boat bound for Alcatraz and reached the island, but was put back upon the tug and forbidden to land.

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION

McAllister is now giving this case close attention. The point at issue is whether the statute of limitations applies to desertion. McAllister states that federal judges in New York and California have always held that it does apply to desertion, although in practice the war department has held otherwise. He has selected this case as a strong one to carry to the supreme court of the United States, and he is now about to appeal to this court. It is said that Mrs Lavin's son by a former marriage, who is employed in a bank at Portland, came down here last week with $1000 to aid in vigorously prosecuting the case.

Says McAllister: "Strange to say although Lavin's case has been in my hands for some months, and while I have received every assistance from the authorities in Washington and from Col Winthrop, judge advocate general and professor of law at West Point, who is much interested in Lavin's appeal to the supreme court of the United States, I have never seen Lavin himself, the general commanding this department having denied me that privilege."

McAllister shows a letter from Col Winthrop in which he states that the settlement of this question is one which has vexed the army since the war, and he wishes him every success in his endeavor.

A STRANGE STORY

A Young Woman Marries to Become a Widow but the Dying Man Recovers

SAN FRANCISCO May 8.—Miss Lillie Frances Brown, of Oakland, Cal., was so desirous last December of becoming a widow as to marry Frank McKee, a printer on the Call, an entire stranger, upon the representation that he was dying of consumption. She acknowledges that she was silly and foolish, but that does not make the matter plain to the people at large. They are asking for some other and more reasonable explanation. They say the act was unnatural and unwomanly. According to her story she simply saw that a widow could have more liberty, could do more and different things without being talked about than a girl who never had been married, and so she determined to find a man who was comparatively on his deathbed, marry him and pay his doctor bills and funeral expenses in return for his favor in making her a widow. She was possessed of a fortune of about $40 000.

The plan worked well to a certain point. She found her man, married him and paid his doctor bills to the amount of $500 or $600, but the man refused to die. He actually got well. This was something Miss Brown had not counted on, and therefore she is now in a peck of trouble. She did not want a husband, a live husband, at least only for a short time.

THE HUSBAND'S STORY

McKee tells his version of the case to-day. He states that he was honest in his thought that he was about to die. He sent word to his brother in Oregon that if the latter wanted to see him alive to come at once to Oakland, but for some reason unknown to himself he regained his health. Later he had several meetings with his disappointed wife, and at one time she proposed that they had better try to accept the situation and live together, but [illegible] something about not knowing whether they could live happily together or not. She acted as though she was half insulted and has not renewed the offer. At another time she stated that she was willing to support him if he lived alone, but as he had a delicacy about naming a sum that proposition was not consummated.

The case stands at this point to-day. She is comparatively a girl, being only 21, and has a fortune. He is a widower and poor. Neither one knows what to do with the other. McKee is credited with saying that he sometimes wishes he had died when he thought he was going to, as it would have greatly simplified matters. It is said that Dr De Puy, who waited on McKee, is largely responsible for this state of affairs, as he made certain misrepresentations. Since the occurrence he has moved to Lake View, Oregon, with the intention it is said of beginning practice there.

THE NEW ROUTE.

Further Particulars of the Changes on the Line to San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO May 8.—T. H. Goodman, general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, being [illegible] in his department [illegible] to the railroads between here and Portland stated several facts that will be of interest. Beginning this week, probably in the first part thereof, second class rate tickets will be put on sale between here and Portland. The price of these will be [illegible] each. There will be no reduction to passengers wishing to stop at Eugene, Albany, [illegible], the price being the same to these [illegible] to Portland. Tickets at the same rate will also be sold at Portland for San Francisco.

Mr Goodman stated that it has not yet been decided whether on the completion of the roads [illegible] second class rates will be made lower than under the present schedule, that is $30 and $[illegible]0. [illegible] depend on whether the O & O and the O & C are operated as one through line or as two separate roads. An effort is making, however, to reduce the price of the sleeping car service. The price from here to Redding is now [illegible], from Ashland to Portland $[illegible]0. It is thought that this service on the O & C will, if it [illegible] have already been done within the past day or [illegible].

Beginning [illegible] this week a buffet service will be inaugurated on the California line and it is [illegible] by [illegible] that the same service will soon be placed on the Oregon line. This will enable passengers to obtain lunches without leaving the train. [illegible] place as the [illegible] will be continued [illegible]. [illegible] meals to be had at [illegible]. Since staging has been [illegible] reduced the company have decided to take [illegible] the through trip.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

AID FOR THE NANAIMO WIDOWS

WALLA WALLA, May [illegible].—The mayor has issued a proclamation inviting citizens to subscribe for the relief of the Nanaimo widows and orphans. The [illegible] and [illegible] are [illegible] up a [illegible] and have [illegible] number of [illegible] subscribed.

SAFE, SURE AND SPEEDY.

No external remedy ever yet devised has so fully and unquestionably met these three prime conditions as successfully as ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS. They are safe because they contain no deleterious drugs and are manufactured upon scientific principles of medicine. They are sure because nothing goes into them except ingredients which are exactly adapted to the purposes for which a plaster is required. They are speedy in their action because their medicinal qualities go right to work relieving pain and restoring the natural and healthy performance of the functions of muscles, nerves and skin.

SAN FRANCISCO THEATERS.

A Review of the Past Week and a Forecast of the Coming One

SAN FRANCISCO May 8.—Under instruction from the directors of the National Opera Company in New York an extra and last week of the season in this city will be played for the people at large with a reduction in prices to afford all an opportunity. The $3 and $4 seats have been scaled to $2 50, the $2 seats to $1 and the gallery to 50 cents. The bill for the week is as follows: Monday, "Merry Wives of Windsor"; Tuesday, "Lohengrin"; Wednesday, "The Marriage of Jeannette" and the Coppelia ballet; Thursday, "Aida"; Friday, a concert by the Thomas orchestra, with Miss Juch and Mr Ludwig as the vocal soloists; Saturday matinee, "Nero." Manager Locke said last night that while he considered the artistic success of the entertainment great and the patronage generous, yet the expenses had been so heavy that a call on the guarantors would be necessary.

At the Baldwin Frederick Warde will play one week longer. His audiences increased somewhat in numbers toward the latter part of last week. Sara Bernhardt begins her two engagements at this theater on the 16th inst.

To-morrow Joseph R. Grismer and Phœbe Davis begin their fourth and last week at the Alcazar theater in the comedy "Wild Oats."

At the Bush street theater "A Bag Baby" will hold the boards during the week.

At the California theater a New York and London comedy called [illegible] will [illegible] at the [illegible] being nothing but a baby [illegible] it will be given [illegible] Harrison's concert [illegible] Minstrels [illegible] Gallery.

When Held by the Enemy is to be produced at the Baldwin after Bernhardt's season. The author, Mr Gillette, will himself take the part of Corliss [illegible]. The play has created quite a furor in London.

THE EARTHQUAKE.

More Sad News from Sonora, Mexico—Towns Destroyed and People Killed

NOGALES, A. T., May 8.—The earthquake last Tuesday created sad havoc in the northwestern portion of Sonora, Mexico. This portion of the state is far from railroad or telegraphic communication. The following dispatch was received here to-day:

HERMOSILLO, May 8

The earthquake caused terrible damage in Montezuma. It destroyed several villages, but those in the northeastern part suffered most terribly. Oputo had all its houses destroyed and nine persons were killed. [illegible] was utterly destroyed and [illegible] people were killed. The houses were leveled to the ground. A new volcano has appeared, and its eruption has destroyed all the timber and pastures of adjoining valleys and mountains. Further details are expected hourly.

The volcano mentioned in the dispatch is in the famous Sierra Madre mountains. In this place a pretty severe shock of earthquake was felt this morning at 2 o'clock.

AT TUCSON

TUCSON, A. T., May 8.—From one to two slight shocks of earthquake have been felt for several days, too slight to cause alarm. There is no doubt that nearly every high mountain in southern Arizona has to a greater or less extent had its topography changed, but so far as can be learned there is no active volcano among them.

OFFICIALLY CONFIRMED

CITY OF MEXICO, May 8.—(via Galveston).—The government to-day received its first information regarding the disastrous earthquake on the 3d inst. at the town of Babispe, in the district of Montezuma, Sonora, by which 150 persons lost their lives. The earthquake occurred at 3 00 P. M. At the same time volcanic eruptions began in the neighboring mountains, lighting up the summits for a long distance. A prediction is made here by local scientists that Mexico is about to undergo a general seismic convulsion, and the recount of the records of the earthquake shows that there is widespread volcanic activity from one end of Mexico to the other.

THE Y. M. C. A.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—In view of the meeting here on Wednesday next of the twenty seventh international convention of the Young Men's Christian Association, the Chronicle to-day devotes nine columns to a history and the work of the association. Wood cuts of thirteen of the most prominent laborers in the cause are also given. Services in the leading churches to-day were mostly along the line of what this association has done as a civilizing and christianizing agent of modern times.

A STEAM COASTING SCHOONER

The trial trip of the steam schooner Alcazar, which is built of Oregon pine, took place yesterday in the presence of a number of ladies and gentlemen friends of the owners who are interested in shipping. She will be employed in the grain and lumber trade of the coast. It is thought here that steam schooners are destined to be used largely in the carrying trade of this coast. This one was named the Alcazar in honor of the theater owned by M. H. DeYoung.

VESSELS DELAYED

The weather up north is very rough. The Coos Bay from Eureka was delayed one day in sailing. The steamers Arcata from Coos bay and the Mary D Hume from Ferndale and way ports are both bar bound, the former being delayed four days in sailing.

BIG TIMBER

The ship Canada is discharging a large lumber cargo from Tacoma at the Mission street wharf. Some of the deck load comprises sticks 1[illegible]0 feet long, by two feet square, a sight which causes many people here to open their eyes in surprise.

ASHORE AND A TOTAL WRECK

A dispatch to the Merchants Exchange states that the schooner Champion, forty two tons, which plies between here and Albion, went ashore at the latter place to-day and became a total wreck. She was owned by H. Wetherbee of this city.

BEHEADED BY A TRAIN

AUBURN, May 8.—J. Diers, lately from San Francisco, was beheaded by a freight train this afternoon. He had been drinking of late and it is believed he suicided.

NEW YORK GOES DRY.

No Liquors Sold in the Hotels or Restaurants on Sunday.

NEW YORK, May 8.—New Yorkers went thirsty to-day. The opinion of the corporation counsel as rendered last week announced that restaurants were restricted by law from supplying guests with liquor at meals. This decision carried terror to the average hotel man, who had hitherto felt that the [illegible] laws would not touch his privileges. Hotel bars were all closed. Beer, wine and other drinks were not sold in any of the hotels. Cards were distributed in all the leading hotels yesterday afternoon announcing that they would be closed to-day. This had the desired effect. The guests laid in a supply of the needful to carry them over to-day.

Fewer drunken men were seen on the streets than on any Sunday for some time.

At the weekly meeting to-day of the Manhattan Temperance Association in Masonic temple, M. M. [illegible] severely spoke of the Sunday blue laws. He thought that the passage of the latter bill by the legislature was an outrage. The Cooper Union mass meeting last night to oppose the blue laws, he said, showed the power of the liquor interest, and it needed a check. Mayor Hewitt was praised for enforcing the Sunday laws.

Certain singing societies met again to-day. It was reported that a committee of three had visited Albany and notified the committee on cities of the [illegible] that the future political action of the [illegible] depend upon settlement of the excise trouble in a satisfactory manner. The [illegible] it was said to be the result of the [illegible] work.

The police to-day made only three excise arrests as compared with [illegible] last week.

A BULLET THROUGH HER HEART

The Sad Tragedy that was Enacted upon the Blackburn Farm

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 8.—A terrible tragedy took place this morning near Spring station, on the farm of Capt James Blackburn, ex-secretary of state and brother of Senator J. C. S. Blackburn. Miss Henrietta Blackburn, accompanied by her cousin Henrietta Hempstead, a young lady of [illegible] years, went out to shoot at a mark with a small rifle. They were joined by Samuel Blackburn, [illegible] brother of Miss Henrietta Blackburn, and a friendly contest was begun as to who could shoot at the mark best. The three engaged in an awful struggle for possession of the rifle, and in the struggle the weapon was discharged, the ball piercing the heart of Miss Henrietta Hempstead and killing her instantly. The unfortunate young lady gave a slight scream, dropped on the floor [illegible] and breathed her last before her terrified cousins realized the awful calamity that had befallen them. Messengers were hurried off for medical and other assistance, and it was with the greatest difficulty that Miss Blackburn and Miss Hempstead's mother could be restored from the shock occasioned by the unexpected and terrible death of the young lady. Miss Hempstead was a great favorite in the community. The funeral will take place Monday afternoon at Frankfort.

REVENUE CUTTERS IN SEALING WATERS

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The treasury department has decided to modify orders heretofore issued to revenue cutters on the Pacific coast at the beginning of the sealing season and the issuance of the orders will be somewhat delayed this [illegible] by reason of the proposed modification. It will [illegible] possible for an American vessel [illegible] for a sealing voyage to enter and remain in [illegible] sea and pursue any lawful business therein without danger of being seized, driven out or having her voyage [illegible] broken up or destroyed. Until [illegible] are made with Canada with regard to New England fishermen the question of jurisdiction of the right to fish for seals in Behring sea is likely to be kept open, and a revenue cutter will be depended upon to discourage by gentle means, so far as possible, as much as possible within the vicinity of Seal islands on the shore line, but the arbitrary power of seizure and repulsion heretofore so liberally exercised in the interests of the Alaska Commercial Company are to be effaced.

WEATHER BULLETIN

A New Feature [illegible]—Temperature [illegible]

WASHINGTON, [illegible] of signal office [illegible] with [illegible] a view of [illegible] Monday [illegible] to the climatic [illegible] districts of the country [illegible] bulletins, containing [illegible] relative to the [illegible] growing [illegible] for determining the condition [illegible] for growing crops [illegible] the bulletin for the week ending Sunday, May 7 188[illegible]

SIGNAL OFFICE, WASHINGTON, May 8.

Temperature—During the present year commencing with January 1 and ending May 1 the weather has been colder than usual in the states bordering on the Atlantic coast and from New England westward over the great lakes, the Upper Mississippi and Missouri valley to the Rocky mountains, the region of greatest cold being in the states bordering on the great lakes and thence westward to the Missouri river, over which the aggregate deficiency of the daily mean temperatures from January 1 to date ranged from 00 to 400 degrees, an average daily deficiency of from about 1 5 degrees to 3 degrees.

In northern New England and in the south Atlantic states the total deficiency in temperature ranged from 100 degrees to 300 degrees (or an average of from about 1 degree to 2 degrees) colder than usual.

THE WARM SECTIONS

The weather has been warmer than usual since January 1 in the east and west gulf states, Tennessee, Kentucky, West Virginia and in the northern portions of Ohio, Illinois and Missouri, the aggregate excess of the daily mean temperature from January 1 to date ranging from 150 degrees to 200 degrees over the whole region named.

During the week ending May 7 1887 the temperature has been warmer than the average for the week in all districts east of the Rocky mountains excepting Florida and Texas.

The increase of temperature over the normal for the week in the wheat and corn regions, north of the 40th parallel of latitude, has averaged about 10 degrees, and this excess has therefore caused a rapid advance of the season over the region where it was retarded. In the south the region of excessive temperature has received a still further increase, and along the Atlantic coast the increase of temperature for the week ranged from 2[illegible] degrees to 50 degrees, thereby reducing the deficiency in temperature for the season in the states and giving conditions favorable to the agricultural interests.

THE RAIN RECORD

Rainfall during the season from January 1 to May 1 188[illegible]. Since January 1 there has been a [illegible] deficiency in the rainfall in the Northern states ranging from [illegible] to [illegible] inches in the Gulf states and the interior of the south Atlantic states. The deficiency in the grain regions of the Northwest has been slight, ranging from 1 to 3 inches in the lower Missouri valley and averaging about 1 inch in the upper Mississippi valley. Regions showing an excess of precipitation for the season are as follows: Northern New England, Hudson river valley, upper Ohio valley, stations on Lake Erie and in eastern Michigan and in the western portion of Kansas and Nebraska. The greatest excess, ranging from 3 to 4 inches for the season, covers northern and western Ohio and western portions of Pennsylvania and New York.

Slight deficiencies in the rainfall for the season are reported from Central and Southern California.

During the week ending March 1[illegible] 1887 and during the past week, rainfalls in the northern portions of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Dakota and in the West Gulf states, in Central Mississippi, Northern Georgia and Central Alabama have been slightly above the average for the week, the heaviest rainfalls occurring in Eastern Texas, Arkansas and Southern Missouri, thus in a measure alleviating the drouth previously existing in those sections.

In the western portions of New York and Pennsylvania and in Northern Ohio the rainfall for the week has served to increase the excess of rainfall already reported in those sections.

SUMMARY

It will thus be seen that the season to date in the various sections of the country has been about as follows: In the grain regions of the north it has been comparatively cold and dry. In the cotton regions west of Georgia warm and unusually dry. In the cotton and rice regions of the South Atlantic coast cold and comparatively dry. In the tobacco regions of Virginia and North Carolina cold and dry. In the tobacco regions of Kentucky, Tennessee and Pennsylvania the weather has been warmer with the rainfall slightly less than usual, except in Northern Kentucky, where the rainfall was slightly in excess. From reports received it appears that the meteorological conditions of the past week have had the effect of rapidly advancing the season in those sections where it had been previously retarded.

CROP PROSPECTS.

The Outlook for Spring and Winter Wheat in the Mississippi Valley

CHICAGO, May 8.—The Farmers' Review will print the following crop report this week: Rains have been beneficial to winter wheat in all the states reporting this week, but more is required to give that crop and spring wheat a more rapid growth. Seeding of spring wheat is completed and in many instances the crop is above ground and promising well. The average of the condition of the winter wheat in fourteen counties in Illinois reporting this week is 88 per cent. Reports on the condition of spring wheat are beginning to come in. DeWitt county reports an average condition of 100 per cent; Fulton and Stark 99 per cent; Stephenson 100 per cent. In Whiteside the condition is good.

The general average condition of winter wheat for Indiana counties reporting this week is [illegible] per cent.

The condition of winter and spring wheat in Iowa is reported as fine, but the average is small. The condition of spring wheat is good in nearly every report.

The condition of winter wheat in Kansas on the whole is not promising.

In Kentucky the condition of the crop is quite satisfactory. The same may be said of Michigan, with the exception of Berrien county.

In Minnesota winter wheat is in fair condition, but spring wheat is not above ground yet.

Prospects in Missouri are very good for a full crop of winter wheat. Winter and spring wheat in Nebraska are in fairly good condition. More rain is still required. The average condition in Ohio is rather low.

The condition of the crop in Wisconsin and also in Dakota is fair.

Meadows and pastures are improving, but in many localities rain is needed.

THE COTTON CROP

MEMPHIS, May 8.—The regular monthly cotton crop report for the Memphis district, which embraces West Tennessee, Northern Mississippi, North Arkansas and North Alabama, to be published to-morrow, will say: The weather in the main has been favorable, excepting in portions of Arkansas, where dry weather prevailed to such an extent as to materially interfere with planting operations. General rains have, however, fallen since the 1st inst. throughout the district, which have no doubt been of great benefit to crops. [illegible] of cool weather [illegible] fifth of the crop had been planted up to the [illegible] will be finished not later than May 20. The area planted in cotton shows an increase of [illegible] per cent over last year. The [illegible] is reported from Tennessee [illegible] per cent, Arkansas [illegible] per cent and Alabama [illegible] Mississippi [illegible]. Labor is generally in ample supply [illegible] in the lines in Mississippi and [illegible]. All however report it working well.

The acreage put in corn shows an increase [illegible] per cent compared with last year. Mississippi reports an increase of 4 per cent, Arkansas [illegible] per cent, Tennessee [illegible] per cent and Alabama [illegible]. The report is [illegible] satisfactory [illegible] with fair season [illegible] abundant crop of last year in this district [illegible].

VERDICT OF A CORONER'S JURY

JACKSON, Miss., May [illegible].—The jury holding an inquest [illegible] the case [illegible] who was killed last [illegible] by [illegible] Jones [illegible] of the penitentiary [illegible] after two days of [illegible] session [illegible] rendered a verdict as follows: "We the jury [illegible] in the case of the death of [illegible] came to his death [illegible] by the hands [illegible] and others as [illegible] to the jury."

DROWNED AT A BAPTIZING.

A Railing on a Wharf Gives Way, and Seven Lives are Lost.

CHICAGO, May 8.—A special to the Inter Ocean from New Orleans says: Several colored congregations of Baptist churches in this city having made it a practice to baptize members in the Mississippi river at certain selected points both in the upper and lower districts of the city. The swift current of the river has always made the custom more or less dangerous, but the chance of mishap have been until to-day thought to have been reduced to the minimum by the care exercised in selecting places for the ceremonies where there was shallow water. To-day however an accident happened at which seven lives are known to and many more may have been lost.

The Mount Zion Baptist church has been baptizing its converts at the foot of [illegible] street. Beside the spot of the usual ceremonies is a large wharf which extends into deep water. This morning the congregation gathered at the spot for the usual ceremonies. A large crowd assembled on the wharf, and in the midst of the exercises the railing surrounding it gave way and fully fifty people were precipitated into the river. Around the wharf were a number of skiffs, and into them many of the people were thrown, overturning several boats and adding to the number struggling in the water. The occupants of those skiffs which floated set to work and rescued all those who could be reached. As stated however seven are known to have been drowned, and it is believed that from [illegible] to [illegible] more perished.

Angelina Williams, colored, when she went into the water had a child in her arms. She [illegible] until she came to the surface and [illegible] until one of the rescuing skiffs reached her, and the infant was [illegible] the current. An unknown white woman was drowned under exactly similar circumstances, and [illegible] is now [illegible]. Several people were injured [illegible].

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS.

SPECULATION IN STOCKS.

NEW YORK, May 8.—Speculation during the greater part of last week was confined chiefly to operators inside the stock exchange. The bears were in control at the start and succeeded in bringing about a decline of nearly three points in New England, and made a lighter impression on other shares. When railway traffic returns for the fourth week of April came to hand the figures generally showed handsome increases over last year and there was a marked reversal of the course of prices. This was a complete surprise for the bears and they made haste to cover, and the result was a decided improvement. In railroad bonds a large business was done, as in some instances changes were unusually important. Among those prominent was Wabash, which rose one-half to six and a half points on rumors of a settlement with the purchasing committee. Oregon Short Line sixes fell off on Monday but rallied three points.

THE INTERSTATE LAW

PITTSBURG, May 8.—Judge Schoonmaker, interstate commerce commissioner, passed through this city yesterday on his way home. He said: "From what I have seen I cannot tell much about the workings of the law thus far, for the fourth or long and short haul clause has been suspended temporarily in the South, and until it is decided whether this suspension is to be permanent the law cannot be accurately judged. The greatest clamor ever heard comes from California. Way, those people claim they can't ship fruit. There is nothing in the law to prevent any one East from making rates to or from the Pacific coast, providing they don't ship to intermediate points. Complaints regarding Pacific coast shipments are exaggerated. There is nothing in the law that will hurt California business as claimed."

MISS CLEVELAND

NEW YORK, May 8.—It has been at length definitely arranged and announced that Miss Cleveland will become associated with Mrs Lee in the executive administration of her school in this city. Miss Cleveland has also become associated in the editorial management of the American Magazine of History, in which her lectures delivered at the school will be published. She has already begun her editorial duties and will begin work at the school in September.

A GREAT STRIKE PROBABLE

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—Wholesale coal handlers state that the greatest strike of coal miners ever known in this country is likely to occur next week. The demand made three weeks ago for an increase of 10 per cent by May 15 has been practically refused. It is the unanimous opinion of large dealers that the present state of trade would not permit an advance of wages, and if the strike must come it had better come now.

CONVENTION OF RAILROAD EMPLOYES

READING, Pa., May 8.—The fifth convention of Philadelphia and Reading railroad employes was held here to-day. About 100 delegates, representing every department, were in attendance. Quite a number of grievances were presented, but their nature and the action taken on them could not be learned. A resolution was unanimously passed authorizing the boycotting of beer manufactured by the Philadelphia brewers.

A LEAP TO DEATH

ST LOUIS, May 8.—A special from Omaha, Neb., says: J. Oliver, of Beardley, Ill., jumped from a west bound train on the Burlington road at Iowa Point and was drowned in the Missouri river yesterday. He was frightened by two confidence men who were working him. He ran to the platform, dragging with him his 5 year old child. The conductor grabbed the boy in time to save him. Mr. Oliver was temporarily insane.

FOREST FIRES

LAREDO, Tex., May 8.—Passengers arriving on the Monterey train report that great fires are raging on the summit of the mountains in many places on both sides of the road. Whether these fires have any connection with the recent earthquake disturbances in Arizona and New Mexico is yet to be determined, as the tops of these mountains are almost inaccessible.

CAJEME WAS SHOT

ST LOUIS, May 8.—A dispatch from Nogales, Ariz., says: A good deal of doubt having been thrown on previous reports that Cajeme, the famous Yaqui Indian chief, had not been shot, the matter was set at rest to-day by the reception of a telegram from Gov. Torres of Sonora, saying that Cajeme was shot after a short trial, in accordance to law.

PORTLAND, MONDAY, MAY 9, 1887.

PORTLAND'S GREAT OPPORTUNITY.

All reports from Cœur d'Alene agree that the discoveries there are the richest of recent times. They comprise gold, silver and lead in quantities which nobody even dares to estimate. There are literally mountains upon mountains of rock whose mineral character is demonstrated both by experimental and practical development. Nothing like it has been seen since the Comstock discovery in Nevada twenty five years ago. "It is simply stupendous," says Mr. B. Goldsmith, "and nobody can tell the story in a way to give an adequate notion of the truth. At places great bites have been taken out of the mountain sides, exposing such wealth of mineral rock that the beholder can only gaze in wonder and amazement as one gazes for the first time upon Mount Hood." Mr Reed, Mr. Honeyman, Mr. DeLashmutt, Mr Knowles and others, men not given to enthusiasm and respected for calm and business like judgments of things, tell the same story. The evidence is sufficient. There is no longer speculation and doubt, but positive certainty that we have tributary to Portland, if we will make it so, the largest and richest mining district in the world.

By the recent purchases of Messrs. Reed, Goldsmith and others, Portland now controls the larger of the developed mines. Her interest is greater than that of any other center, entirely overshadowing the Montana interest and influence, which, until now, have been supreme. Mr Reed's purchase, particularly, involving more than a million and a half of dollars, has opened the door to Portland, and now the question is, shall we follow up the advantage and make the district permanently tributary to Portland, or shall we look on idly and allow this really great opportunity to pass by? Every circumstance is favorable to Portland. In miles we are nearer than any other center of capital and business. From the Cœur d'Alene district to Portland there is a level or down grade, while to Denver or Omaha or Chicago, the ore would have to be hauled over mountains. The facilities for smelting are better here than at any of the points named, because fuel is cheaper, fluxes are cheaper, coke is cheaper, and labor is quite as cheap. The smelted product, too, at Portland would be at a sea port and could make its choice in the markets of the world.

Portland must have a railroad to this district and it must get there before any rival road. It ought to be the first business of the Union Pacific to extend the Farmington branch of the O. R. & N. to Wardner. The distance is about ninety miles through a country offering no serious obstacles to railroad construction. If it should be decided to cross the Cœur d'Alene Indian reservation, it is believed that right of way could easily be obtained. This being an executive and not a treaty reservation, authority from the president or from congress would be sufficient, and even if it were left to the Indians to decide, it is believed that they would grant all the privileges required. But it is not really necessary to cross the reservation and if the privilege is denied a route a very little longer could be followed around it. It is the duty of the Union Pacific to build this line which would, unquestionably, be the best paying division of the O. R. & N. system. But if there is any delay, then Portland capitalists should build it. Two million dollars would put it through. It would pay fine dividends from the beginning. If the Union Pacific should refuse a connection at Farmington, then an extension of thirty miles would carry it to the Snake river and make (with two portages) practically an independent line to the mines—the whole not costing over three million dollars. The scheme is a big one but the prize in view is a big prize and it is a certainty.

The board of trade meets to-night and Mr. Goldsmith, who has just returned from Wardner, has been invited to appear before it. There ought to be a full attendance to hear and consider his report. Steps should be taken to get the facts, with an earnest appeal from our business community, before the new managers of the O. R. & N. system. Mr. Adams, president of the Union Pacific, and Mr. Potter, its general manager, will be here in three weeks. The board of trade to-night should appoint a committee composed, not of mossbacked heavy respectability, but of active, practical and progressive men, to visit the mines immediately and to collect full information to be laid before these officials when they come. Mr Goldsmith will urge this and it should be done.

In our judgment, here is the greatest opportunity in the history of Portland. If we let it pass we don't deserve to prosper.

THE EMBARGO ON COMMERCIAL INFORMATION

The Arlington Times inquires: "Can THE OREGONIAN explain to its large number of readers in Eastern Oregon and Washington why it fails to publish a report of wool sales and shipments?" The same paper then goes on to say:

We can assign but one of two reasons for this neglect to perform the duty it owes to its patrons. It may be because there is so little done in that line at the metropolis this year that it is ashamed to publish the figures or else this great journal is assisting the wool men in working in the dark. The statement that the O. R. & N. Company refuses to allow these figures for publication is, we believe, evasive. Certainly no enterprising reporter would admit that he cannot obtain at least an approximate idea of the amount and character of these transactions.

It is well known to all intelligent persons that the wool market on this coast has been paralyzed ever since the interstate commerce law was enacted. At San Francisco it is the same as at Portland. Offers for wool have been few, extremely low prices have been named, and there has been, in fact, almost no actual business to report, either at Portland or San Francisco.

The reason why THE OREGONIAN does not report receipts and shipments of wool is precisely as heretofore stated. The business is in the hands of the O. R. & N. company, and the management of that company positively refuses the information for publication. The reason given is that the company cannot allow its rivals, or possible rivals, in business to know what the character or volume of its business is. For the like reason, as it claims, it refuses to permit publication of salmon shipments and will not permit publication of receipts of wheat, unless the receipts from Eastern Oregon and Eastern Washington are lumped with those from Western Oregon, so that the origin of the business may not be known. Not only the appeal of THE OREGONIAN'S commercial reporter, but the personal appeal of the editor for this information has been denied. Nor is there any possible way to obtain the information from other sources here. The suggestion that "an enterprising reporter could obtain at least an approximate idea of the character and amount of these transactions" is worthless, for such information, to possess any value, must be accurate, and guesses would have no value.

It is exceedingly annoying to THE OREGONIAN to find this obstruction put in the way of obtaining the information that the country wants and is fairly entitled to have, and it hereby calls the attention of the state railway commission to the matter and asks it to make inquiry whether it has not power under the law to call for and publish this and other information about the business of the railways, which the people are entitled to have. Meantime, in order to find out what shipments of wool are being made from here to San Francisco, THE OREGONIAN has made arrangements to have a statement thereof obtained at San Francisco upon the arrival of each steamer there, and telegraphed back to Portland for publication.

The insinuation of the Arlington paper that THE OREGONIAN has not acted honestly in this matter, the intimation that it wants to help the wool buyers swindle the wool growers, and the assertion of a belief that its statement that the O. R. & N. Company refuses the figures for publication, is "evasive," may be treated with contempt. Insinuations like these are the resource of every mercenary little rascal in journalism, who shows thereby how dishonest he is and what he would do himself if the opportunity were afforded him.

RIDICULOUS ROSSER.

Yesterday THE OREGONIAN published the savage letter of the Confederate general Rosser about Gen. Sheridan, in which the latter was accused of "cruel barbarism" during the war, because he whipped all the rebel armies out of Shenandoah valley, and so "desolated" the valley that it could no longer be the storehouse from which the rebel armies at Richmond drew their main supplies. Hearing that Sheridan was intending a quiet journey pretty soon "up the valley" Rosser wrote to an old Confederate comrade there: "I hope you will not allow this man to make his triumphant ride up the valley in peace, but have him go like a miserable crow, carrying his rations with him." This last expression was inspired by resentful remembrance of Sheridan's dispatch to Grant, announcing the complete achievement of the work he had been sent to perform, and stating that it had been done so well that "now a crow cannot fly over this valley without carrying its rations."

A dispatch from Washington says that Sheridan was much amused upon reading Rosser's letter, and said: "Rosser has not forgiven the whaling I gave him in the valley, and I am not surprised that he loses his temper. When I was moving down the valley, Rosser was sent after me with a brigade, but I did not consider it worth while to give him much attention. Torbert's division of cavalry formed near my column and I was confident he would take care of Rosser. Occasionally Rosser would come across small detachments of our troops and would swoop down upon them. It was finally reported that Rosser had captured my pack train, and this made me mad. Halting the entire army, I galloped to the rear determined to settle Rosser. I found the train had not been captured, although it had had an encounter with Rosser and was coming in considerably scattered and broken up. I could not find Torbert and this added to my rage. When I found him he was enjoying himself in a farmhouse. I informed him I wanted Rosser cleaned out and if he could not do this I would take his division and do it myself. The following morning Torbert went after Rosser, whose brigade was struck with an impetuosity which caused it to scatter. We stripped the enemy of everything he had captured. Custer got Rosser's uniform and occasionally wore it for the amusement of his command."

Rosser has made a fool of himself. His pompous and angry letter and Sheridan's good natured but sarcastic reply, have made Rosser the laughing stock of the country. Rosser has been little heard of since the war, and it's a pity after holding his tongue so long he has made a fool of himself at last. His assertion that the character of Sheridan is "cold, cruel and brutal" needn't make anybody mad, for the humane disposition of the general of the armies of the United States is as well and widely known as his military prowess. It is true that he "spread desolation through the valley." Next to whipping the rebel armies out of the valley, that was his business and duty there. War is not a business for softly gloved hands. So long as the rebel armies could hold Shenandoah valley and Richmond could be supplied from it all efforts to reduce the rebellion were futile. But after Sheridan's campaign in the valley the business was wonderfully simplified and the war was of short duration. Sherman has been denounced similarly for "spreading desolation" around Atlanta, but the problem of ending the war was destruction of the material resources of the rebellion, and this could be accomplished only by vigorous war, which in the long run is less cruel than war feebly directed. As Sherman wrote to the mayor of Atlanta: "You might as well appeal against the thunder-storm as against the terrible hardships of war. War is cruelty and you cannot refine it, and those who brought war upon our country deserve all the curses and maledictions a people can pour out."

PUBLIC ART VS PRIVATE LIFE.

Sam Small recently denounced Sara Bernhardt's appearance in Minneapolis in "Fedora." Small said: "Common decency should keep everybody from that opera house to see a woman whose only notoriety is filthiness, and yet thousands will pay from $3 to $10 to see filthiness."

There is nothing filthy or indecent in Bernhardt's dramatic business. She is in private life not a model woman, since she is a mother who has never been a wife, and yet she has been woman enough to acknowledge, educate and support her child, which is decency compared with many men and women who disown and desert their illegitimate offspring. Byron's private life was not as good as that of Bernhardt, for he made no provision for his illegitimate children, and yet nobody but a fool would refuse to read Childe Harold because Byron was a wayward and dissipated man. If nobody ever went to see a great dramatic performance, to hear a great opera, or read a great poem until he secured proof that the actor, the singer, or the author could show a clean bill of moral health there would be no theater or opera and few books read that are worth reading.

The test of a theater, an opera or a book is the beneficent or evil quality of the play, the opera or the book, not the private sins of the Wagners, the Byrons or the Bernhardts. Shakespeare was a deer-stealer in youth, his marriage was not free from moral cloud, but these facts do not damn the plays that live under his name. The dissolute character of Kean or the Elder Booth did not damn their noble histrionic performances, and it is utterly absurd to style a noble and fine dramatic delineation of great character as filthy because the actress is a woman whose conduct has not been correct. Because we condemn the weak or wicked side of genius there is no reason for treating with contempt or as [illegible] its best and noblest expression. Because Wagner ran away with Von Bulow's wife would a sensible man or woman refuse to listen to his grand music? Because Raphael, Titian, [illegible] Thorwaldsen and many other great artists were men of loose morals would a sensible man turn his back on all their art? No name ought to be splendid enough to give currency to evil work in art or literature, and no name can be bad enough to justify neglect of good work in literature or art. If Bernhardt's personations are in themselves essentially of evil influence her personal good character would not be any reason for tolerating them, and if they are elevating and inspiring her personal irregularity of life is no reason for treating her decent professional triumphs with contempt or neglect. Sam Small might as well refuse to hear Bob Ingersoll speak the truth eloquently of Robert Burns, because Ingersoll is an agnostic enemy of Christianity, as to refuse to see Bernhardt personate a noble part on the stage, because she has not always played a noble part off the stage.

The Los Angeles Herald prints the following word of advice to landlords in that city, which many in Portland would do well to read and paste in their hats:

We shall not be able to go on forever collecting rents and putting them all into our pockets. Many happy ventures have been made in the real property of Los Angeles. The usufruct from such investments is in many instances enormous. We must make up our minds to take a month's rent now and then and put them back in the property in such a way as will hedge our investments, and still further enhance their values. This will be best done in clothing our city in such garments as befit her station among the cities of the land.

The Call declares that no influential body of San Franciscans favor enforcement of the fourth section of the interstate act, and it adds: "Ninety-nine hundredths of the people of this city and of this state are decidedly opposed to its enforcement, because they realize that it would work irreparable injury to the industries of the state. The only persons who defend the section are a few manufacturers in a small way who have a notion that if Eastern manufacturers were shut out by a railroad tariff which was practically prohibitory they would enjoy a monopoly of the Pacific coast markets for their wares."

IS THIS PATRIOTISM?

The New York Tribune sneered at President Cleveland the other day because he intimated, in his letter declining an invitation to go to Charleston, that Calhoun was an honest man and his works worth studying.—Boston Herald

The Herald is not fair in this statement. Calhoun has been armed by the president and by his Southern lieutenant, Lamar, a patriotic man. Calhoun was an able man of pure private morals, but he cannot be called a patriotic man, unless we assume that devotion to the pernicious doctrine of state supremacy is a higher test of patriotism than fidelity to the Federal flag. If clannish, provincial enthusiasm for a parish, if insane allegiance to a corn field is nobler than broad fidelity to a country, then Calhoun was a patriot. He is at the head of that class of our "statesmen" who have believed a part greater than the whole, who have thought that the selfish local interests of a state or section ought to be asserted even at the cost of a disrupted nation. It is impossible to believe that so vigorous and clear an intellect as that of Calhoun could ever have honestly and patriotically espoused such a doctrine as that of nullification and its sequence—secession. It is impossible to believe that so refined a man could have honestly upheld and defended from its bedrock of brutality, brigandage, tyranny and theft such a crime against Christianity as slavery.

Calhoun was no drunken, muscular tyrant, destitute of moral sensibility, no devotee of the barbaric doctrine that might, under God, is right. So refined and thoughtful a man could never have honestly believed in the humanity and justice and wisdom of slavery any more than Henry Clay, and his selection of slavery as the fit corner stone of Southern civilization was never announced until Calhoun had become a cankered and disappointed man, full of vindictive disgust for and dread of the rude soldier, Jackson. To discomfit Jackson, to steal the South away from his support, Calhoun set up the pirate flag of slavery, nullification, secession and sectional politics. He knew that its selfishness would seduce the hearts of the unthinking crowd and the heads of all able men who loved power and pelf rather than abstract justice and the inalienable rights of man. His policy, therefore, was the reverse of patriotic; it was the patriotism of a vindictive, strong Samson, who was willing to uproot the Union if only he could see his political foes dead or dying under its fallen timbers. He labored to this end with extraordinary intellectual energy, acuteness and pertinacity, and he came dangerously near success, but to call such a man a patriot is absurd. He was too able a man, too cold and clear and subtle a thinker, to be fooled for a moment by his own brutal philosophy of government. Thousands who followed him were sincere, because they had not brains or judicial faculty enough to separate a question of eternal right from a question of transient might and transient self-interest but Calhoun could never have been imposed upon by ideas so instinct with injustice and immorality as those upon which he rested the dismal, black rock of slavery. Calhoun, in his heart, no more believed that a state could safely rest upon slavery than Clay and Webster, but he had a revenge to wreak on those who wrecked his hopes of the presidency, and that revenge he wrought out with the pitiless pertinacity of a very able, acute and indomitable intellect. He could not rule Jackson, and he was ready to ruin the Union he had lost all hope to rule. He was as dark, dangerous and powerful a disappointed politician as Burr, even more dangerous, because he had not Burr's moral aberrations of morbid animalism and vulgar passion. If Calhoun was a patriot, then Strafford was a patriot, then Castlereagh was the patriotic peer of Gladstone. Calhoun was the subtle Satan of our American politics, a far more powerful mind than Jefferson, for he was pitiless and unflinching in his purpose when Jefferson, by comparison, was a volatile optimist and clever trickster. The intensity and impressiveness of the man survived him in the desperate and deluded Confederate armies that sprung from the seed he sowed. It is possible to think of Davis and Lamar as sincere disciples of this Belial of Southern slave civilization, but it is impossible to believe that the intellect of Belial was ever blind to the essential depravity and brutality of the bloody work of Moloch.

A correspondent asks us to state the probable population of Tacoma. A judicious estimate would be between 5,000 and 6,000. Last week, in the municipal election, Tacoma's vote was 969. This is about as large as the vote of East Portland on ordinary occasions. It is probable, however, that East Portland has the greater number of families, and therefore the larger total population.

Col. Randol, of the First artillery, whose death was announced in our dispatches of yesterday, was a distinguished artillerist of the Army of the Potomac during the civil war. It was his battery, we believe, that was so desperately charged and finally captured at Glendale June 30, 1862, by the breaking of McCall's division of Pennsylvania reserves.

Lieut J B Milton of the navy, in charge of the U S hydrographic branch office at San Francisco, will appear before the board of trade to-night to advise the establishment of a similar office in this city.

In the judgment of the men best informed, the Cœur d'Alene mines will do for Portland what the Comstock did for San Francisco—provided, of course that Portland makes use of the opportunity.

POLITICAL POINTS

Henry Grady of the Atlanta Constitution, A. T. Belo of the Galveston News and Maj Burke of the New Orleans Times Democrat propose to start a paper in New York to boom the South.

Ex Senator Roscoe Conkling's friends deny that he has declared for John Sherman as the presidential candidate next year. Of course nobody who knows Mr Conkling believes the report.

When the great patriot and statesman Jefferson Davis is gathered to his fathers the president will likely hope that the young men of the nation will study his life and history and learn his many virtues.

The Manchester Examiner, one of the most influential journals in England, advises all holders of Confederate bonds to hold on to them in view of the rising power of the democratic party in the United States.

Senator Sherman has accepted an invitation to address the Illinois legislature at Springfield and of course it is concluded that he is after the delegation from that state to the next republican national convention.

As Mrs Hendricks was absolutely ignored by the president and the members of his cabinet during her recent visit to Washington the Indiana democrats have scored another charge in the indictment against Mr Cleveland.

The reports of the internal revenue service show that there are 1033 saloons in Iowa, 185 in Kansas, 446 in Vermont and 1262 in Maine—which is not bad for the tipplers seeing that all of these states have prohibitory laws on their statute books.

A prominent democratic member of congress from the West tells the Washington Republican that as soon as the race issue in the South is discarded by a division among the colored voters, the solid democratic front in that section will be broken.

This Didn't Pay.

Boston Herald

The Vermont Central Railway Company find that they will have to pay about $1,000,000 on account of the Forest Hills bridge disaster in March. This will take a big mouthful out of the profits, and the owners of the road are doubtless feeling especially blue because they have just built a perfectly safe bridge for $25 000 to replace the wrecked structure. They knew the old bridge was weak last year.

Don't be imposed upon. Buy of reliable dealers and be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla.

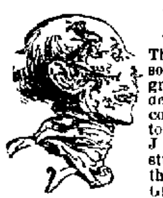
NEW TO-DAY.

THE MAY CENTURY

Contains one hundred illustrations, and is the first number of a new volume. Among its attractions are two papers of timely importance on

PHARAOH.



The first, by Edw L. Wilson, author of "A Photographer's Visit to Petra," describes the romantic discovery of the Egyptian royal tomb. The second, by Prof J. A. Paine, is a careful study of the characters of the Oppressor, Rameses the Great, and his daughter, the rescuer of Moses. It contains evidence that Rameses was an Assyrian, and offers strong proof that his own daughter became his queen. Both papers are profusely illustrated from Egyptian sculptures and paintings and from photographs of mummies.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN: A HISTORY.

By his private secretaries, Nicolay and Hay, with numerous illustrations and portraits. Subtopics: "Civil War in Kansas," "Jefferson Davis on Rebellion," "The Formation of the Republican Party," and Lincoln's prominence therein.

OTHER CONTENTS

Include "Whitsun Harp, Regulator," an illustrated story; the first article of a valuable series on the "Chemistry and Economy of Food," illustrated, together with a number of other illustrated articles, essays, poems, etc., etc.

Sold everywhere. Price 35 cents, $4 a year.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

[illegible] TRANSPORTATION ROUTE.—The artesian [illegible] W S Ladd's place, back of East Portland, [illegible] proved a failure as a well will probably be [illegible] through to China and used as a pneu[illegible] the transportation of freight and [illegible]. The Portland Flouring Mills owned by Mr. Ladd have large contracts for flour to go to [illegible] and by extending the well through he can [illegible] flour there at prices which will defy [illegible]. A sack of flour placed in the tube [illegible] is expected gain enough impetus as it [illegible] toward the center of gravity to carry it [illegible] the remainder of the tube and deposit it [illegible] a platform at the other end. The entire [illegible] of tea from China and Japan will be sent [illegible] this pipe and a switch will be built to it [illegible] Pacific, and this company will land [illegible] New York within a week from the time it is [illegible]. The tube will solve the question of a [illegible] the Orient, and will be the favorite [illegible]. Passengers will be furnished with [illegible] and will take a parting drink with [illegible] here and be in China before they have [illegible]. The completion of this scheme [illegible] of great benefit to East Portland and Mt [illegible] property will advance a hundred per cent [illegible] the fine view it will afford to the [illegible] of the tube.

BUILDING AT SPOKANE FALLS DELAYED FOR WANT OF MATERIAL.—Mr C W Burrage who [illegible] time since moved with his family to Spokane Falls is in the city He says he found it im[illegible] [illegible] a house at Spokane and his family [illegible]. There is a scarcity of lumber there [illegible] the boom which held the logs having been [illegible] by the flood and on account of the wet [illegible] has been impossible to carry on brick [illegible] building operations are at a standstill. [illegible] good sawmills at Spokane but the sup[illegible] timber is not plentiful and consists princi[illegible] [illegible] species of pine and some very good [illegible] Rustic and flooring are obtained to some [illegible] this city but as soon as the Cascades [illegible] the Northern Pacific is completed this [illegible] lumber will probably be supplied from the [illegible] Sound Real estate is rapidly advanc[illegible] [illegible] and as soon as circumstances will per[illegible] [illegible] on the construction of a large num[illegible] [illegible] will be commenced. A gentleman [illegible] states that parties at Spokane inter[illegible] in the lumber manufacturing business have [illegible] property at Astoria on which they pro[illegible] to erect a large sawmill.

[illegible] MAY WEATHER.—It has rained every day so far during the present month The amount [illegible] up to noon yesterday was 4.29 inches The average rainfall for the month of May for the [illegible] fifteen years is 2 44 inches from which it will [illegible] seen that the rainfall for the past eight days is [illegible] more than the average for that time [illegible] has remained constantly in the south [illegible] the whole time except for a few hours on [illegible] when it veered to the southwest. The [illegible] rainfall has been accompanied by unus[illegible] low temperature The mean temperature [illegible] Taking the mean temperature for [illegible] month of May for the past fifteen years, the [illegible] shows a deficiency of 38 degrees from [illegible] normal. The barometer stood at 29 67 Satur[illegible] night and yesterday began to go up standing yesterday afternoon at 30 025. So it may be hoped [illegible] the storm is about over The river was 14 8 [illegible] above low water mark yesterday afternoon [illegible] risen four inches in the past twenty four [illegible]. The chances are good for fine weather on [illegible] some future day

AFRAID OF DEVILS.—A dispatch has been re[illegible] from Mr Hewson engineer on the Cascades [illegible] of the Northern Pacific, asking that 200 Chinamen be sent up to work on the west side of the switchback. An effort was made by Seid Back to secure the men but he found it impossible [illegible] are a number of Chinese here ready to go [illegible] railroad work, but they have boycotted the [illegible] the west side of the Cascades where some [illegible] countrymen were killed. They have an [illegible] that the horrible canyon through which the [illegible] is infested with a tribe of devils imbued with strong anti-Chinese sentiments When nine Chinamen were killed up there by falling trees [illegible] were ten coffins sent up This was looked [illegible] as a bad omen by the Chinese, and they were uneasy as long as the spare coffin lay around [illegible]. It was not long till a rumpus occurred and [illegible] Chinaman was shot. The Chinese thought that [illegible] death had been brought about in order that [illegible] coffin might be filled and they concluded [illegible] leave the place and they have no idea of going [illegible].

PRACTICAL SYMPATHY.—At the regular monthly meeting of the Portland branch of the Irish National League of America, held a few days since a committee was appointed to take action in re[illegible] to the call of President Fitzgerald, to as[illegible] the names and number of parties distinc[illegible] American who have publicly expressed sym[illegible] with the Irish National movement and their [illegible] to coercion This action on the part of President Fitzgerald was in response to a request [illegible] the part of Mr Gladstone The committee met yesterday at 2 P M and after transacting the [illegible] pertaining thereto passed resolutions of [illegible] with the widows and orphans caused by [illegible] disaster at Nanaimo and started a subscrip[illegible] for their relief. The committee which con[illegible] of nine members subscribed $11 50 and col[illegible] were appointed to call on the remainder of [illegible] members to-day The money raised will be [illegible] as soon as possible Parties desiring [illegible] can hand their subscriptions to Mr [illegible] Kearney or Edward Campion, collectors

CUT WITH A BEER GLASS.—Between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday morning a gambler known to the [illegible] as 'Clarkey' entered the Cosmopolitan saloon at the corner of First and Alder streets bleeding profusely from two cuts One ran over the eyes and down the cheek and the other from the forehead to the nose. When asked how he got hurt, 'Clarkey' replied 'Archie did it with a beer glass.' It appears that "Clarkey" was drinking and went into the Argonaut saloon where he got into a quarrel with Archie Beaumont the barkeeper resulting in Beaumont knocking him down. Beaumont's friends say he struck Clarkey with his fist, and that Clarkey cut himself by falling to the marble floor of the saloon Clarkey went to Wisdom's drug store and the night clerk dressed his wounds. Reliable persons who saw Clarkey just after he was cut state that he was too badly injured and could not possibly have been cut in the way he was by falling but must have been struck with some instrument

TROUBLE FROM COWS RUNNING AT LARGE.—Yesterday in Justice Bushwiller's court, a man named Smith was arrested for the larceny of some [illegible] owned by a Mr Eaton, who keeps a milk [illegible] near Steffen's shipyard. It appears Eaton's [illegible] have been going into Smith's garden and de[illegible] it. Smith complained to poundmaster [illegible] and that official informed him that ac[illegible] to the city ordinance Eaton's cows were subject to the pound law in the night time and [illegible] during the day Smith thereupon put Eaton's [illegible] in his barn on their again invading his gar[illegible] and refused to deliver them to their owner [illegible] recompensed in certain damages. Eaton [illegible] to pay certain damages but not in the amount demanded by Smith. Smith's arrest fol[illegible]. The case comes up for trial to-day

BENEFIT FOR THE NANAIMO WIDOWS AND ORPHANS.—The directors of the Arion have de[illegible] to give a public concert as soon as arrange[illegible] can be completed for the benefit of the widows and orphans of the unfortunate miners who perished in the Nanaimo disaster All active members of the society are requested to meet at [illegible] Arion hall this evening at 8 o'clock The so[illegible] further invites the members of the Orchestral [illegible] and other instrumentalists and musicians [illegible] help the society in this undertaking to [illegible] this evening to make arrangements for re[illegible] of the orchestral accompaniment of The [illegible] Greeting which the society has been re[illegible] to repeat and to arrange the programme [illegible] the concert which will be given either at the New Market or at the Casino as soon as possible

CURIOS FROM THE ARCTIC.—In the window of a Front street fur and hide store are displayed a pair of huge mittens made of the skin of the Polar bear They are each about as big as a man's head [illegible] how anybody could do any kind of work with [illegible] hands muffled in such casings it is difficult to imagine Along with these mittens are several [illegible] of the fur seal tanned and a skin of a young reindeer stuffed with straw which looks with its [illegible] legs slim body and cat like head like the [illegible] of a nightmare's foal These articles were obtained from a man who had been engaged in whaling up in the Arctic circle The gloves are a great curiosity the hair on them being long and [illegible] white like the silvery beard of an old man

[illegible] SENT FOR HIM.—A few months ago a man giving the name of James Brannan was arrested and sent to the penitentiary for burglary in [illegible] Baumgartner's saloon on Eleventh street [illegible] Barry afterwards ascertained that Brannan [illegible] Frank Hamilton and an escape from Col[illegible] [illegible] prison in California and for whom $50 reward was offered He notified the authorities in California of this fact and word came back that an [illegible] would be sent after Hamilton with a proper requisition. For some reason the officer with the requisition has not yet turned up Hamilton has seven years to serve in Folsom for burglary com[illegible] in San Francisco If the California author[illegible] want him it is strange that they are so dila[illegible]

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING.—There will be an important meeting of the board of trade at the rooms this evening It is expected some impor[illegible] action will be taken with regard to mining de[illegible] in Coeur d'Alene by which Portland's interests are to be greatly promoted Some action will probably be taken in reference to the establishment of a United States hydrographic branch office in this city Lieut. J B Milton U S N will be present and represent the benefits which [illegible] to shipping by reason of such a branch here. A full attendance is expected to-night

FAMILY ROW.—About 10 o'clock yesterday morning John Gooley a blacksmith who works in the Washington street car stables was arrested by policemen Cunningham and Watson for beating his wife. The parties live over the car company's [illegible] Various accounts of the affair are given [illegible] them that Gooley followed his wife out into the street with a knife in his hand, and that a [illegible] with the assistance of a club relieved [illegible] of this dangerous weapon Gooley was locked up in the city jail to await the action of the police court to-day

[illegible] ANOTHER KILN.—The Portland Lime and Cement Company will to-day fire up their sec[illegible] kiln, the one now in operation not being able to keep pace with the orders coming in from all quarters for lime. With the second kiln running the company will be able to turn out from 150 to [illegible] barrels of lime per day, and when the orders exceed that amount another kiln will be construct[illegible]. From the rapidly increasing demand for this [illegible] it is probable that in a few years the company [illegible] a whole row of kilns in operation

NEARING COMPLETION.—The medical college of the Willamette university at Fourteenth and C streets has about reached completion. Originally the building was to have cost $25 000, but on the [illegible] of December 15th last it was partially de[illegible] by fire. The expense attending the fire [illegible], which is covered in the main by

ABOUT FUR SEALS.—Capt Easterbrook of the weather beach tells the Pacific Journal that a few years since as many as 200 or 300 fur seals came ashore there and were picked up by different parties It only lasted two years since which time there have been no seals come ashore whatever The fact that there are seals off shore this season would lead one to believe that the seal makes pilgrimages up and down the coast.

COMPULSORY IDLENESS.—The long-continued rains interfere seriously with the leading industries of the lower Columbia says the Astorian Loggers are in compulsory idleness, the cattle eating high priced hay and unable to do anything Fish are running poorly, as compared with former years It is to be hoped the weather will grow warmer, if not drier, before long.

RESULT OF THE FIREMEN'S BENEFIT.—The benefit at New Market theater to the volunteer firemen will net the association between $150 and $200 The exact amount will be reported at the next meeting The society is prosperous and improving gradually in a financial way During the summer season they will give a grand picnic

PROGRESSING RAPIDLY.—A few weeks ago the corner stone of the St Joseph's German Catholic church on Fourteenth street was laid Since that time work on the building has progressed rapidly The frame work of two stories is already up and other work in connection with the building is going ahead with equal rapidity

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.—Judge Deady will deliver an opinion in this court this morning in the case of Drexler vs Smith He will also announce a decision in the case of the United States vs Bale and others.

THE LAVIN FAMILY.

A SAD STORY NOT SO SAD AFTER ALL—AN AMUSING TELEGRAM.

In the sad story telegraphed from San Francisco detailing the trials and woes the haps and mishaps of Mr Dave Lavin and his wife (nee Bridget Gallagher) there are a few discrepancies. In the first place, Bridget instead of being prostrated over Dave's arrest herself gave him away to the police Lavin was long known here as a deserter from the army but the police could not place him until Bridget Gallagher disclosed to them the fact that his true name was David O Connor Then the list of deserters was looked up and it was ascertained that O Connor's name was among the number As he had himself so frequently admitted that he left the army without the formality of a discharge, his court martial trial at Vancouver was simply a legal proceeding necessary in order to send him to a military prison there being not the slightest difficulty in convicting him. The account of Lavin's high standing here as a democratic politician is likewise an amusing tale, combined with that portion of it which details the large number of politicians who flocked around his saloon and the enemies who gave him away Lavin's experience as a saloon keeper was of short duration Bridget furnished the money with which to open it, and closed it, saying she was tired of Dave spending all the profits receipts and all At the time of Lavin's arrest it was strongly hinted that Bridget caused it on account of a grand jury case in which Bre' was mentioned and in which Dave was a witness.

KILLED BY A FALL.

A PIONEER RESIDENT OF SALEM MEETS WITH ACCIDENTAL DEATH AT ASTORIA.

Information has reached this city of the sudden and accidental death of Ben Strang at Astoria Saturday Deceased was an old pioneer of Oregon and has for a great many years lived at Salem No particulars of the accident have been received, but as Mr Strang was a tinner by trade, and was engaged in putting a roof on a building, it is supposed he lost his footing and fell, dislocating his neck A private dispatch was sent by E R. Hawes of Astoria a brother in law of Mr Strang to John G Wright of Salem (where the family of deceased lives) apprising him of the fatal accident Mr Wright conveyed the sad intelligence to the family The remains will be brought up from Astoria to-day, and taken to Salem for interment. Mr Strang was at one time councilman at Salem from the Fourth ward Two brothers Capt James Strang of Astoria and Thomas Strang of Deer Lodge, Mont., and two sisters Mrs Ella McAlpin of Asotin W T and Mrs A. This beautiful tract of land, consisting of 208 lots, is situated in the famous fruit growing district adjoining East Portland, one-half mile east of the city limits, on the extensively traveled Base Line road, also on the main line of the Mount Tabor & East Portland railway, and only five minutes' ride from the Morrison-street bridge. This land is all level, cleared and in a high state of cultivation, with fruits and berries, such as apples, plums, prunes, cherries, peaches, pears, etc., together with strawberries, blackberries, and, in fact, all the fruits and berries for which this favored section is noted.

Situated as it is, away from the malarial district, it is entirely free from all miasmatic influences, and is destined to become, with the rapidly increasing population of the two cities, what Berkeley and Alameda are to San Francisco—a place of beautiful homes

Through the completion of the Morrison street bridge

PARADISE SPRING FARM

Is made a delightful suburb to the city of Portland, and in less than six months passenger trains of the Mount Tabor & East Portland Railway Company will pass this property every half hour, thus making it possible for the merchant, the mechanic and the laborer to do business in Portland and live in the most delightful of all its suburbs. To the observing man we deem it unnecessary to enlarge or even to dwell upon the possibilities of Portland and its suburbs as compared with those of any other city, believing, as we do, that it is without a parallel in the United States. Although the city of Portland has not yet attained the average lifetime of man, it ranks to-day in population as the forty-fifth city in the Union, is the actual terminus of three transcontinental lines, has more wealth within its boundaries and a greater area of territory at its command than any other city of America.

Portland's position as a trade and travel center is as thoroughly defined on the Pacific coast as that of New York on the Atlantic, and it is safe to say that within ten years it will have a population of over 100,000 Already its residence capacity is taxed, and right here the question arises, Where will these newcomers seek homes? Will it be in the stifled precincts of a four story tenement house, such as is found in the densely populated cities? Will it be on the rugged hills surrounding the city, where land is already held at $5000 a block? Or will it be on the

BEAUTIFUL UNBROKEN PLAIN

Extending eastward from the river, on which is situated Paradise Spring Farm? Land on either side of Paradise Spring Farm has sold as high as $1500 per acre, and the most inferior cannot be bought to-day for less than $1000, and that only in five and ten-acre tracts, and yet we propose in this matter to give subscribers a chance to secure a regular lot, fifty feet by one hundred feet, at the same rates as sold per acre, besides making them a present of a new, handsome, modern-designed, hard finished house, all ready for occupancy These lots, 208 in number, will be placed on the market at the reasonable price of $200 each, one fourth of that sum to be paid at the time of subscription and the balance in monthly installments of $15 each, without interest on deferred payments As a further inducement to populate this beautiful section, we have now in course of erection six handsome, modern designed five and seven room houses, which are to be given away free to the purchasers of lots Under this arrangement six out of the 208 subscribers will secure a handsome house and lot worth $1400 each, for the small sum of $200, while the balance will have lots that can not be purchased anywhere in the same locality for less than $300 each, and then only in acre tracts—a fact that precludes the possibility of purchase at all by men of limited means The award of the houses is to be made under the supervision of a committee of responsible and disinterested citizens, at some public hall to be agreed upon, in Portland, in June 1887

Parties at a distance can purchase under this plan of award as well as those in the city, it being specifically agreed on our part that everything is to be just as represented

Remittances can be made to us by mail or express

METHOD OF SALE

These houses, six in number, together with the orchards and other improvements, are to remain on the lots where they are at present situated, and are included in the price paid for the lots ($200 each), to those who draw the fortunate numbers

In order that all buyers may have an equal chance in the drawing the following plan of award will be adopted The name of each subscriber will be placed on one slip of paper and a number of each lot, from 1 to 208, will be placed on another slip, the two slips will be placed in separate boxes, and under the supervision of responsible and disinterested citizens will be drawn simultaneously The number drawn will designate the lot belonging to the subscriber whose name accompanies it. Under this plan the names as well as the numbers will be placed in the separate boxes promiscuously, thereby removing any possible advantage that one subscriber might have over another

The plats on file in our office, as well as a visit to the premises, will show on which lots the houses are located but no one can tell who will receive the winning numbers until they have been drawn blindfolded from the box.

Each and every subscriber will receive a warranty deed to his lot, without any extra charge whatever

Remember that there are six elegant, modern-design dwellings to be given away with these lots Price, $200 each, one-fourth down and the balance in installments of $15 a month, without interest.

On and after May 1 we will have an elegant four horse conveyance on hand to convey prospective purchasers to and from the premises free of charge.

In order to accommodate those who cannot call during the day, our office will be open every evening (except Sunday) during the above sale, from 7 to 9

CABLE LETTER FROM BERLIN.

The Situation on the Frontier—A Plan of Expatriation—Etc.

[Copyrighted, 1887, by the New York Associated Press.]

BERLIN, May 7.—The Kreuz Zeitung says: "A mixed feeling of disgust and pity is aroused by the present state of France. The conviction is gradually growing that the efforts of those who undertook, by quietness and common sense, to refrain from adding to popular passion, will not last long or be able to stem the tide. The exchange of verbal assurances of peace between the German representative and M. Flourens, French minister of foreign affairs, does not affect the belief in official circles that war cannot long be arrested."

The situation in Alsace-Lorraine increases in difficulty daily. The frontier posts, on each side, have ceased to exchange courtesies, and act as if war might break out at any moment. The police force in Alsace-Lorraine has been strengthened, and special watch is kept upon French malcontents. Under this system arrests and expulsions are increasing.

A decree issued by Prince Hohenlohe, governor of Alsace-Lorraine, revokes the functions of Mayor Humbert of Ruschhorn. Among the notable expulsions are those of Herr Delfigny, managing director of the Schiltigheim factory at Treves, from Metz; Civil Engineer Hemiel from Benfeld, and two brothers, named Schwitkhardt, cabinet makers, from Strasburg.

The Metz Gazette announces that the authorities will dissolve all societies and clubs refusing to admit Germans, and will endeavor to enforce the exclusive use of German as the official language taught in Alsace-Lorraine.

A PLAN OF EXPATRIATION.

The Tageblatt advocates a plan to colonize the provinces by the gradual expatriation of French sympathizers, the purchase of land through the state, assisted by land banks, the settlement of German farmers and special grants to soldiers of the reserve.

In the meantime, there is no state of siege in Alsace-Lorraine. The actual regime is quite as thorough. French artisans hitherto employed in frontier towns are leaving, the French consuls sending them to France. The French frontier populace indulge in a hunt after Germans whenever they have a chance. An incident of this kind occurred at Belfort. A party of German excursionists who made a trip from Freiburg to Belfort were mobbed as soon as they were seen upon the public promenade. They were stoned and hooted by the crowd. A detail of gendarmes had to escort them to the station, where they were guarded until their train started.

AN ANTI-JEWISH MOVE.

The placidity of proceedings in the reichstag was disturbed by a single incident. During the short debate on the supplementary credits, when an article relating to army provisions and supplies was being discussed, Herr Baeckel, an anti-Semitic deputy, demanded that no Jew be allowed to furnish or contract to supply the army with provisions, munitions or any article whatever. He said the army did not exist nor the country provide money in order that Jews might enrich themselves.

Herr Struckmann, national liberal, deplored the reappearance of the Judenhetze. Confessional quarrels should not be obtruded upon the tribune of the reichstag.

Herr Baeckel, angrily responding that the Jewish was in no sense a confessional question, was proceeding to deliver a speech when the president brought the discussion to a close by declaring that he could not permit a debate on the Jewish question.

TAXATION OF SUGAR.

A sugar taxation bill, it is expected, will be introduced on Thursday next. At a conference of representatives of the largest sugar manufacturers it was resolved to ask the government not to go beyond 1½ marks duty per double centner of beets, with 15 marks duty per double centner of beet sugar exported.

A declaration which Dr. Lucius, minister of agriculture, made in the unterhaus during the discussion on Herr von Minnigrode's proposal to increase the duties on agricultural produce has given rise to a report that the government will present to the reichstag a bill imposing an import duty on cereals. No bill of this nature, however, is possible during the present session, and if such a bill be presented in the autumn it will shake the fidelity of the government majority and precipitate a rupture.

The report of the commissioner appointed for the purpose of settling German agricultural colonists in the Polish provinces states that they have bought a total of 72,000 hectares of land, costing 4,500,000 marks. The colonists are rapidly assisting in the Germanizing process.

The anti-German demonstrations in Paris excite no feeling here, not even attracting the attention of the German press or people.

AUSTRIA.

CAUSED BY A SIROCCO.

VIENNA, May 8.—A hot sirocco blew the whole week, and throughout Hungary, rendering vegetation inflammable. At Torozko 300 houses were burned and four lives were lost. The conflagration lasted two days. At Ruskberg a church and thirty-seven houses were destroyed. Many houses burned at the village of Menegyo. At Eperis all the churches and public buildings were destroyed and the cemetery was devastated. It is estimated that the total losses will reach $2,500,000. All Hungarian and many Austrian insurance houses are involved.

DISASTROUS FIRES.

VIENNA, May 8.—The fire at Nagy Karoly was caused by a terrible storm of wind, which carried sparks to distant woodyards and set fire to them. Altogether 400 houses were destroyed and 5000 people deprived of homes are camping in the open air.

Since the recent fire at Eperis many inmates of the convent and school have been missing. At the time of the fire several girls were killed by jumping from a window.

JEWS ATTACKED BY PEASANTS.

VIENNA, May 8.—A crowd of peasants, incited by agitators, to-day attacked the Jewish quarters in a Moravian village. The peasants, who were armed with farm implements, brutally assaulted the Jews. Troops were sent from Prerau and succeeded in quelling the riots.

FATAL DUEL AT PESTH.

LONDON, May 8.—A fatal duel was fought at Pesth on Saturday by two students. The weapons were pistols. One of the combatants was shot dead, a ball passing through his liver.

FRANCE.

TWO COLLISIONS AT SEA.

HAVRE, May 8.—The French steamer La Bretagne, Capt. De Jousselin, from New York April 30, arrived here at noon to-day. She reports that during the night she collided with and sunk a Norwegian bark. The crew of the bark were saved.

The steamer La Champagne, which sailed yesterday morning from New York, and which afterward returned, having been in collision, was run into by the Ville de Rio. The latter steamer sank, but the crew and passengers were saved. The collision caused a panic among Italians on board the Champagne, who made a rush for a lifeboat and capsized it, five of them being drowned, in addition to those sailors who had tried to prevent the rush. The steamer Ville de Bordeaux rescued fifteen Italians clinging to the capsized lifeboat.

The collision took place about noon. The shock was so violent that the Champagne was thrown almost completely over upon the starboard beam. A wide hole two yards long opened in the larboard side, near the poop, just above the water mark. The captain, finding it impossible to return to port, ran his steamer aground on a bar, and saved the lives on board.

MEXICO.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

CITY OF MEXICO (via Galveston), May 8.—Col. Moore, the new American consul general, arrived to-day.

President Raoul and Vice-President Dodge, of the National railway, and party, yesterday inspected the Pacific division of the road. The nominal sale of the company's property in order to perfect the transfer to the new company takes place on the 2nd inst. There is now nothing in the way of legal obstacles to the transfer of the property in this country to the new organization, and work on the uncompleted section of the main line is expected to begin within a few months.

The San Francisco Call publishes a statement that the market for the Pacific coast salmon pack this year has been cornered by W. T. Coleman & Co., and also states that the pack this year will be less than last year, which was a short one.

Jake Kilrain has challenged John L. Sullivan to fight with gloves for the championship of the world and the heavy-weight diamond belt, the contest to take place near Baltimore within six months. A deposit of $1000 has been made.

Philip Reed, an old settler living in the vicinity of Alderton, a station on the Cascade branch of the Northern Pacific railroad, was struck by a construction train that was backing rapidly down the track near that place. His injuries are quite severe, and it is thought will prove fatal.

The east-bound passenger train on the Atlantic & Pacific went through a partially burned bridge Wednesday, forty miles east of Daggett station, and a number of the passengers and trainmen were seriously and probably fatally injured. Among these was a man named Schneider, of Walla Walla, who received a terrible scalp wound.

The Trans-Atlantic line steamer La Champagne, which sailed from Havre for New York at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, while returning after having been in collision, ran aground near Avranchas. It is reported that twenty Italian emigrants, while attempting, regardless of discipline, to escape in the lifeboats, were drowned. The remainder of the passengers were safely landed. The steamer can be floated easily.

No more bodies were taken from the mine of death at Nanaimo on Saturday. An exploring party was driven back by after-damp and narrowly escaped death. Nine of the victims were buried. No business is done in the town. The schools are all closed and all hearts are sore with grief. Seattle, up to 9 o'clock Saturday evening, had subscribed a relief fund of $1000. The dominion government will be asked for a grant.

A Guaymas, Mexico, dispatch says: The earthquake on the 3d started by a terrible volcanic eruption at Bahispe, which destroyed Montezuma, killed 150 persons and ignited the woods. Twenty persons were also killed at Opoto by the falling of buildings. Many people were injured at Granada and Gusabar, which towns were almost completely destroyed. Later accounts received at Nogales tend to show that the report of a volcano having broken out in the Whetstone mountains is true.

The Southern Pacific intends making the California & Oregon the popular route to Portland, and for this purpose it has been decided to put on a buffet service in connection with the Portland sleepers between San Francisco and Hornbrook. The service goes into use on Monday, on the train leaving at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. It has also been decided to issue emigrant tickets to Portland at $20, and now that staging has been so materially reduced, the company has decided to take baggage on the through trip. A handsome station house and freight depot are shortly to be erected at Sissons, on the California & Oregon line.

SHERIDAN ON ROSSER.

Sheridan seems to have talked pretty freely about Rosser to the men in newspaper row at Washington. A correspondent of the New York Tribune reports him as saying:

Rosser was hailed as the savior of the valley, his men wearing small laurel twigs in their hats as an indication of their purpose to clean us out. Some time after this, when Rosser again appeared in that vicinity, I understood that the people advised him to substitute pumpkin vines for the laurel, that plant being well known for its running qualities. For this reason, perhaps, I suppose that Gen. Rosser continues to feel unkindly toward me. He says that I have not atoned for my acts during the war. That is true. It never occurred to me that I was called upon to do so.

I want to add that I do not propose to make a trip to the Shenandoah valley during the coming summer, and had not thought of so doing. I visited the valley last summer in company with Senator Cameron of Pennsylvania, and was hospitably received by the people, none of whom exhibited any of the bitterness of feeling that is expressed in Gen. Rosser's letter. I understand this Rosser is still living in the valley, and as he intends to become a candidate for congress, his letter was doubtless written for effect upon his coming political campaign.

BISHOP A. BAYLEY.

FOREST GROVE, May 7.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

A brief account of the life of Bishop A. Bayley, of Tillamook, whose death was announced some weeks back, may be of interest to the hundreds who knew him, and especially to his friends, to whom he was very dear. Accompanied by his father, mother, brother and five sisters, he crossed the continent in wagons drawn by oxen. He was born in Ohio, Clarke county, February 29, 1834, and arrived in this state in 1845, being only a small boy. His name is enrolled as one of Oregon's pioneers. He was among the number of unfortunates who traveled via Meek's short cut in search of the Willamette valley, but were lost in the mountains; then, turning north, reached the Columbia at The Dalles. Their pilots abandoned them there. Constructing a raft, they loaded everything thereon excepting the cattle, and glided slowly down the river to the Cascades. From this point they made a portage to the lower river, where they secured a sail boat. The father and brother found their way down through the wilderness with the cattle. All finally reached the Willamette valley in November, meeting at a place below Portland called Linton, which has disappeared from the map. Bayley lived in one of the two only cabins then built where Portland now stands, near the old tanyard. He assisted in removing the fallen timber surrounding their little home, and also labored in the tanyard. After a year's residence there his father moved into Chehalem valley, Yamhill county, and filed upon a piece of land, under the donation land law, and there he spent his boyhood days, farming and raising stock. During the Yakima war in 1855 he volunteered, and his captain was Absalom Hembree, who fell a victim to the Indians; after which time for several years he was employed in the Boise City, Idaho, mines. The remainder of his life has been on Tillamook bay. Adjoining this body of water he possessed quite a valuable piece of property, and his occupation there was principally fishing. The exposure necessary in such employment caused a severe inflammation of his bronchial mucous membrane, which indirectly caused his death. He held the position of custom house officer at that port.

Mr. Bayley was an ardent, zealous republican, and believed that men and women were created free and equal, and should be the possessor of equal rights and privileges. His religious views were liberal, believing that religion consisted in doing good and loving mercy. I have often heard him remark, "I believe in one God, the great God of nature, and hope for happiness beyond the grave; and wandering on the ocean beach, watching the play of the waves, or listening to the roar of the breakers, my heart is impressed with a sense of the power and majesty of God. Whenever I contemplate the vast or wonderful in nature, there I experience a religious exaltation of spirit. It is the soul within us placing itself en rapport with the soul of nature, the great first cause." His disposition was generous, free from hypocrisy, which made him somewhat unpopular in the religious community. He had profound reasoning faculties and many noble qualities, with some sad infirmities, but he carried his heart in his sleeve. Had few enemies. True to the affection of his youth, lived a bachelor's life. His abilities as a poet were good, as his manuscripts will show, and he was a man of fine personal courage, of honesty and integrity. He paid his just debts, and made ample provision for his aged father. Peace to his ashes and honor to his memory.

STATE DISPATCHES.

HE MEANT TO GET HALF THE FINE.

SALEM, May 7.—The four gamblers who were arrested last night on complaint of one Bustin to-day waived examination and were bound over in the sum of $250. Bonds were promptly furnished. It now appears that Bustin had the idea that when the gamblers were arrested and fined he would get half of the fine as informer, hence he had the gamblers arrested. He did not find out his mistake till after the arrests were made.

Most, the Anarchist, declares that liberty is a lie. He ought to be kept permanently where there is little of it.—Boston Post.

COMMERCIAL.

SATURDAY, May 7.

Overland receipts include 8 cs boots and shoes, 10 sks hair, 2 bbls varnish, 1 cs yarn.

Steamer City of Chester, at San Francisco the 3d inst., landed 320 sks potatoes from Victoria, 261 sks do from Seattle, and a large quantity of hides.

R. Hochkofler's San Francisco coffee circular for April says: "The statistics for the past month show an unwonted degree of activity and a very healthy market. Thus, while the imports from Central America exceed those of the preceding year by 22,041 bags, the stocks in the first hands to-day are smaller than at the same time last year. The deliveries from first hands, both for home consumption and for overland shipment, are large, the latter already exceeding the entire shipments of 1886, notwithstanding which there is still a demand for those markets; but the probability of scarce receipts from Central America during the remainder of the season, with consequent strong prices, and higher railroad freights, will probably prevent further shipments of any magnitude. It is evident that Central American coffees, Guatemala in particular, are growing in favor in those markets, and becoming daily in greater demand, to meet which and our own increasing consumption, we shall require larger importations than heretofore. The good local position of the article, both actual and prospective, caused a quick response to the extraordinary advance that has recently taken place in the Brazilian and other markets, and prices under a brisk demand improved steadily, closing at an advance of about ¾c to 1c per pound above those quoted in the last review."

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 24 hours include 5974 ctls wheat, 545 bbls flour, 1618 ctls oats, 731 ctls millstuff, 58 sks potatoes, 6915 lbs hides, 10 cs butter, 84 cs eggs, 4 bxs fruit, 63 bxs dried do, 359 sheep, 55 cattle.

EXPORTS—To San Francisco per steamer Oregon include 19,575 ctls wheat, 8811 qr 4257 hf sks flour, 25 crates onions, 611 ctls oats, 779 sks potatoes, 50 bxs dried prunes, 166 bxs dried apples, 5 sks horseradish, 5 cs flannels, 193 sks gluestock, 313 dry 71 green hides, 132 bls pelts, 11 bls calfskins, 3 rls leather, 6 bls deer skins, 3 cs teasels, 105 bdls hazel hoops, 225,000 lath, 959 bdls wood pulp, $6211 treasure.

FREIGHTS—Nothing of new interest. The one vessel at hand under engagement for wheat is discharging inward cargo. There is in port available for grain seven iron and one wood, with one iron near at hand. Salmon is reported offering slowly. At San Francisco the three vessels with grain business have completed cargo and are awaiting crews.

WHEAT—Receipts continue to be almost wholly Walla Walla. To-day's steamer carried out nearly 1460 tons, both grades, but mostly Walla Walla. New offerings via Yaquina are reported to be decreasing rapidly. Our market is not of particular interest. Late transactions have not furnished very good material for close quotations, but Walla Walla is held above views of buyers. Valley shows no change. To-day's cables are of a farther improvement, and California prompt shipment has advanced to 37s 6d, or close to the high figure at the turn of the year. Off coast is still higher, and is now the most valuable. New York and Chicago at noon were in easy feeling. At San Francisco buyer year is the leading option.

FLOUR—To-day's steamer carried a total of 4[illegible] barrels, about half of which is understood to be for shipment to China. The California market is just now giving our millers a good outlet for their surplus. Our own market is firm, with a very good request. Standards still quoted $4 50.

MILLSTUFF—Stocks perhaps furnishing more working scope, but still not materially increased. The market is strong.

OATS—Stocks sufficient and market quiet. Quote 4@55c for good to choice feed.

POTATOES—Receipts very light, advices of a high market and buyers here would pay $1 65@2 for all kinds. Little room for business. Shipments by to-day's steamer only 760 sacks.

EGGS—Receipts not heavy and the market shows some degree of steadiness. Sales mostly at 18c.

CHICKENS—Quote $3@4 50.

WOOL—Eastern markets dull, but fairly steady. Our San Francisco advice quotes a range probably high as to extremes. The market there is slow to develop, trade waiting definite freights. Meanwhile the seventy-five days of suspension granted are passing, and but light shipments are noted. At The Dalles 15c has been paid for choice, while there and at Arlington 14c is offered for ordinary grades. Shearing is slow work with present weather, and there has been loss sustained by reason of sheep slipping their fleeces. The movement toward stations assumed fair proportions late in the week.

SHIPPING INTELLIGENCE.

SHIPPING NOTES.

Ship Guardian, now at San Francisco, has been sold for $12,000 to W. J. Adams & Co. The Guardian was built in 1863 at Damariscotta and has for some time been employed in the Pacific lumber trade, in which she will be continued.

Bark Helen W. Almy was receiving freight at San Francisco yesterday for Astoria. The O. R. & N. Co. are said to want 200 tons freight promised for a combustible steamer.

Bark Abbie Carver, Hong Kong August 8 for Callao, previously reported supposed wrecked at Formosa, drifted ashore on an island on the east coast of Formosa in fine weather and four boats were seen to pull away. The natives say they beckoned for them to land, but it is supposed they were afraid to do so. A typhoon came on that night and, no doubt, all were lost. Five days after the bark left Hong Kong a typhoon occurred, so everything agrees with the natives' story. A package was found and identified as part of the bark's cargo, the vessel having been broken up in the gale.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

OREGON.

The Columbia river has risen several feet during the past week at The Dalles.

Over $20,000 has been left in Douglas county recently by California horse buyers.

The recorder's assessment of the city property of La Grande shows a net valuation of $298,193.

At Pendleton the water pipes are being put underground rapidly. About fifty men are at work.

In the absence of the prosecuting attorney at Prineville, Judge Watkins was appointed to fill the position.

Medford has a Presbyterian church completed and workmen are engaged in laying the foundation for a Baptist one.

Mrs. J. Wimer, of Josephine county, planted orange seeds last fall and now has several fine growing orange sprouts.

Jacksonville exchange: The cattle in this part of the country are doing very well. Southern Oregon holds its own in that line.

Mr. R. Biberstedt, of Jackson county, caught a brown bear the other week of an enormous size. It is said the quadruped weighed over 500 pounds.

The Dalles Times-Mountaineer: We are informed that ice formed a half-inch thick in the country, fifteen miles from Arlington, last Sunday night.

A little child belonging to a family by the name of Oliver, living below Island City, Union county, fell in a kettle of boiling water on Thursday, and died the next morning.

Heppner Gazette: The disease called swellhead, which was supposed to confine itself to young men, now prevails among sheep on Rhea creek, and some few have died. Prompt bleeding seems to save them.

Mr. H. C. Rooper, stock inspector of Wasco county, has appointed Alexander McIntosh his deputy for Eskinville precinct, with postoffice at Bakeoven, and W. C. Tarlton for Antelope precinct, with postoffice at Antelope.

Pendleton paper: Charlie Frazier brought a strange freak of nature into this office this morning. He broke open an orange of the ordinary variety, and found inside of it a perfect orange about the size of a thimble.

Drain Echo: Quite a large number of immigrants are arriving on every train, seeking for homes in sunny Southern Oregon. A large number of immigrants from Texas have permanently settled about Yoncalla during the past year.

A few days ago Mr. Allway's little boy met with a serious accident at Weston. While playing around the yard he stumbled and fell on the sharp point of an ax, cutting a deep, ugly gash in his lip. The wound was severe, but the boy is recovering.

A few days ago, says the editor of the Lake county Examiner, we counted thirty sheepmen and not less than fifteen cattlemen on our streets. They represented not less than seventy-five thousand cattle and one hundred thousand sheep, and all seemed pleased with the prospect of a prosperous season.

The Lexington lodge of Good Templars elected the following officers at their regular meeting Tuesday night: Chief templar, N. A. Thompson; vice templar, Mrs. J. D. Ambrose; chaplain, S. B. Hope; secretary, J. Nunan; financial secretary, Alva Leach; treasurer, Mrs. S. B. Hope; marshal, Wm. Halley; sentinel, Wm. Whittington.

Bear have been numerous in the mountains of late, and this week Jo Scott set a trap for the purpose of catching one or more of them, says the Weston Leader. He failed to entrap the bear, but on Monday night captured a fine specimen of the gray eagle. It is a very large bird, measuring over six feet from tip to tip, and extremely savage, so far whipping every dog in the town.

Dallas paper: Billy Sportsman, who was sentenced to the penitentiary on a charge of forgery for two years, at the December term, 1885, of the circuit court for Polk county was liberated Thursday. He came immediately to Dallas and called on old friends. He says he has fully repented and wants to go to work, and claims he would never have committed the crime had it not been for accomplices, but did not say who they were.

The people of Canyon City are very indignant over the acquittal of Foster, the murderer of Jarrell, and the defendant in the case has received peremptory notice to quit the county, says the East Oregonian. The jury, too, have received their share of censure, and in retaliation for recent strictures poured on their heads by the Grant county News man, went before the grand jury and endeavored to have him indicted on several charges, but without avail.

Sunday, says a La Grande paper, Tom McKaye, a carpenter, was reported to have robbed a painter of $50, and Marshal Whitlow soon had him in custody. Owing to the jail not being completed, he was obliged to keep watch over him during the night. In the morning he was taken before Recorder Ellsworth and fined $15 and costs, which he could not pay. While the marshal was away from him a few moments he disappeared and has not since been heard from.

A correspondent writing to a Grant county paper in regard to the acquittal of Foster, says: The action of the jury that sat on the Foster case is generally condemned. Just think of it, a man who takes the life of a fellow-man, we may say without just cause or provocation, is acquitted, while another person, who for shooting a pistol and cutting a fellow, is sentenced to the state prison a year. If this is law, I fail to see the justice. The jury system of Grant county, I am afraid, is a farce—the biggest kind of a farce.

A Southern Oregon exchange says: Judge L. R. Webster, while passing upon the indictment of Mr. Gillam for killing deer in violation of the game law, took occasion to say that violations of that law within this district had gone far enough. He said, in substance: "It's about time that it be known that the game law means something. This thing of killing deer out of season and then being excused out of it because the meat was used, or from any other cause, has gone far enough. From this time on I shall enforce the law upon parties who have been convicted of that offence."

RAILROAD MATTERS.

Boise City Democrat: The Chicago & Northwestern surveyors are feeling their way toward Boise from the east; and we have it from good authority that they will shortly open an office at this place through which to operate their engineering business.

A great number of the O. R. & N. employes are somewhat solicitous over the matter of their retention by the new management, says an exchange. It is quite probable that most all of the present employes will be retained. The officials at Portland will probably step down and out.

Jacksonville Times: The grade through the mountains from Hornbrook to Ashland will average 176 feet to the mile. There is no other grade so heavy as this in any part of California. The Graham surveying party, who have been engaged throughout the winter in a preliminary survey of the line from the Siskiyou tunnel to Ashland, have completed their work, and the final location has been made, and stake driving will commence in a few days. The Graham party will, it is said, commence very shortly on a preliminary survey for a line to run from Edgewood to Eastern Oregon.

Corvallis paper: Chief Engineer Eccleston received 40,000 ties for the Oregon Pacific Company this week, on the Santiam. Work has begun on the switch between the Oregon Pacific and Oregon & California depots at Albany.

Palouse Gazette: It is rumored that the Farmington branch of the O. R. & N. will be extended to Spokane Falls immediately. If present plans are carried out, the Palouse country will soon be covered with a network of railways. The more the merrier.

SUICIDAL INSANITY.

Colfax Commoner.

The following account of an attempt to commit suicide is learned from J. B. Standley, of Colton: For several days previous to last Friday Frank Mras, aged about 23 years, who resides with his parents three and one-half miles west of Colton, was observed to act very strangely, but no serious thoughts given it by other members of the family. On Friday night he went to bed as usual, when it seems he arose sometime during the night, and with the aid of a razor inflicted several deep wounds on the side of his neck and head. He then retired again, and early in the morning, with his head in a terribly lacerated condition, left the house for his own place, about 300 yards distant. Arriving at his own cabin he attacked the other side of his face with a pocket knife, butchering it to some considerable extent. He then built a fire in the stove and one in the corner of the room, and sat down in an opposite corner. At this juncture of the proceedings he was discovered by a party of persons in search of him, and conveyed to his father's home, from whence he was taken to Colton for medical aid. He is in an almost hopeless condition of depravity, and while he may recover from the wounds received it is feared will never fully recover his reason. Although the wounds are considered quite serious he pays little heed to them. No cause can be attributed to the young man's misfortune.

Angostura Bitters do not only distinguish themselves by their flavor and aromatic odor above all others generally used, but they are also a sure preventive for all diseases originating from the digestive organs. Beware of counterfeits. Ask your grocer or druggist for the genuine article, manufactured by Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons.

SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER,
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of KENT'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient. Use no other.
